Session #6: Activities for Change-Ready Leaders Aiming to Transform Program Culture

In this laughter-filled, interactive session, you will gain inspiration and proven-techniques from the world of improvisation to help you expand your comfort zone to create meaningful connections and drive positive change in the classroom. You'll practice the “Big Five” behaviors of improvisation and learn how to foster a Mindset of Discovery to develop your power to build a positive culture and connect with others in the room through hands on exercises and open conversation. This session will be led by Margi Simmons, the Director of Applied Improvisation at the Brave New Workshop, who trains and inspires thousands of professionals each year. The experience will be perfectly suited for introverts, extroverts, analytical thinkers, creative types, perfectionists (recovering or not), and anyone who enjoys having fun! Join us in jumping in and saying “Yes, And” to learning and growth.
